What's a typical day like?

Imagine a customer who needs quality specialty tooling and equipment to complete a job. The parts normally call for a 2 week lead time. The customer is asking if we can expedite the order and deliver it within 1 week. If they can't get the tooling and equipment they need, they will lose a lot of money.

The Scheduling Manager notices that there are enough cutters in last ops to fulfill the order, but they have to go to coating today or the lead-time cannot be met. The Scheduling

Manager approaches the Manufacturing Manager to see if they can be moved up. The Manufacturing Manager approaches you with the expedite request. There are 25 cutters with 4 sides a piece. It's 1pm. You only have 4 hours to grind 100 sides. Your team has 3 other orders that need to be completed today. Can you deliver?

You work with another team member and determine what needs to be done. You begin grinding the cutter blades, while your partner mills parts for the other work orders. Everything is completed by 4:45pm. The cutters go to coating later that day and the order ships out ahead of schedule and delivered in less than a week.

The customer is so impressed with the quality of the tooling and the service they received they begin referring their co-workers from other locations to buy from us which leads to new opportunities.

Every day you will be doing work that really matters. You will be helping customers solve their business challenges. You will have an opportunity to do your best work and make a real impact.

We are looking for talented people. Do you have what it takes?

-) You are self-motivated, diligent, passionate about work, and always looking for more. You seek ownership, accountability and take responsibility for your actions.
-) You are a team player. You are others centered. You are teachable, coachable. You can multi-task. You are confident but you don't promote yourself. You are able to teach and coach others.
-) You are emotionally intelligent. You have mutual respect with your peers. You have good judgment about other people. You interact appropriately with others. You are aware of the impact of your words and actions.
-) You are process and results-oriented. You set and track goals. You do what you say you'll do and deliver on your promises. You achieve consistently good results.

Let's talk. If you are passionate about work and solving customer challenges in a fast-paced, high energy work environment, and looking to further your knowledge and skills, then let's have a conversation. We'll keep it confidential.
